How to edit template

Open template in Adobe Muse

- Find GrooveLine_Muse_Template.muse file. Open this file in Adobe Muse for editing or doubleclick on it (this will open straight into Adobe Muse). Make sure you have latest version of Adobe Muse.

Customization

Full info about how to use Adobe Muse here and here.

In Muse

Once you get Muse opened you'll want to head over to the "Design" tab - then open the "Home" page. In "Design" you can edit all of the bits you see once the site has been published.

Previewing

When you've made a change to the theme you can just as easily preview it. Just head up to "Preview" in the menubar and click it. Once the preview generates it'll show you the site in the built-in Muse browser, but to view it how everyone else will see it just go to "File" then "Preview in Browser" - this will load in your default browser.

Replacing/changing images in Muse

Select the rectangle you want to fill with a new image and select new image.

Exporting

This part is even easier.

1. Go to "File" in the menubar, then "Export as HTML"
2. Enter your website name
3. Make sure to save it to the HTML folder already there

You just need to upload it via FTP now.

Quick change color in template

Double click on color in "Swatches" panel and change the color.

Export template

After customization save template and export site to HTML or upload to FTP host.
